THE RIVERDALE DISASTER,

Crowds of Curiosity Seekers Watching the Search of the Wreck.

No More Bodies Found-Condition of Those Who Were Injured.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 .- Ex-Senator Robert H. Strahan, who was reported last night as steamer Riverdale, turned up at his law office here this morning. He said he was not a passenger on the Riverdale, but took a steamer fifteen minutes later.

Peter Fanning, one of the deckhands of the Riverdale, who was badly scalded, was said at the hospital to-day to be improving. It is expected that his injuries will not prove

It is expected that his injuries will not prove fatal.

Crowds of curiosity seekers gathered to-day on the wharf in front of the spot where the Riverdale sank yesterday, and watched the small boats ply around the wreek, picking up whatever floated to the surface. No bodies were found since yesterday, and the belief strengthens that there are none in the wreek or at the most, only two or three. The list of missing is being gradually thinned out as those supposed to have gone on the steamer, or who were really passengers on it, are heard from safe and sound in this city, or at their homes up the river. It is believed by those best informed that the full extent of the calamity has been stated. The wreek lies on the side, floating partly, but is weighted down with machinery, so that it drags on the bottom when attempts are made to tow it by means of tugs. Means will be taken to have it towed and grounded on the Jersey flats. A thorough search will then be made for more bodies, and the truth will be known as to the condition of the boiler and the number of victims of the explosion.

victims of the explosion.

Steamboatmen express the opinion from a look at the capsized vessel that it may break when an attempt is made to raise it. They believe that it is split into three or four

The three injured men in the New York The three injured men in the New York hespital are doing as well as can be expected. Two of them, Wm. H. Henry, the oiler on the steamer, and John Solair, the mate, are out of all danger. The Rev. Howell Gardner is injured more severely, having been dreadfully scalded. As he is between 50 and 70 years old he may succumb to the shock. The hospital physicians have strong hopes of his recovery. The coroner will this afternoon view the bodies of the victims and inspect the scene of the disaster. He has signified his determination to make a rigid examination into the matter, so as to enable him to tion into the matter, so as to enable him to ascertain exactly where the fault lies. The inquest will be commenced on Saturday next.

THE RIVERDALE DISASTER.

Gen. Dumont to Investigate the Matter-What He Says About Investigation by Local Inspectors.

"What are you going to do about the terrible explosion on the Hudson river steamer Riverdale, general?" queried a REPUBLICAN reporter yesterday evening, addressing Supervising Inspector General of Steam Vessels

vising Inspector General of Steam Vessels James A. Dumont.

"We will investigate the circumstances surrounding at d the causes which led to the accident," he replied. "I will leave this evening for New York to consult with the supervising inspector of that district in relation to the matter."

The general thinks that the prescribed method of investigating casualties to steam vessels should be radically amended by law, because in a majority of cases the local inspector investigates himself. For instance, an inspector will have to inspect the maspector investigates himself. For instance, an inspector will have to inspect the machinery, &c., of a certain steamer in his district, and a while later, should the boiler of the same vessel explode, an investigation is ordered, which, by law, must be made by the same inspector who made the examination; or if there is a collision caused by an inefficient pilot or master, the local inspector who granted such pilot or master his papers is called upon to investigate "the attending circumstances," &c. "It stands to reason, therefore, that the officer will not inspect himself very severely." The section of Kovised Statutes under which such investigations are made is as follows:

which such investigations are made is as follows:

Sec. 4450. The local boards of inspectors shall investigate all acts of incompetency or misconduct committed by any licensed officer while acting under the authority of his license, and shall have power to summon before them any witness within their respective districts, and compet their attendance by a similar process as in the United States circuit or district courts; and they may administer all necessary oaths to any witness thus summoned before them; and after reasonable notice in writing gives to the alleged delinquent of the time and place of such investigation, such witnesses shall be examined, under oath, touching the performance of his duties by any such licensed officer; and if the board shall be satisfied that such licensed officer and if the board shall be satisfied that such licensed officer in the competent, or unskillfulness, or has endangered life, or willfully violated any prevision of this title, they shall immediately suspend or revoke his license.

Supervising Inspector General Dumont

Supervising Inspector General Dumont recommends to the secretary of the treasury that the following be adopted in lieu of the above, and thinks that it will work much good in investigating disasters involving the above, and thinks that it will work much good in investigating disasters involving the loss of life and property:

The secretary of the treasury shall make such regulations as may be necessary to secure the proper execution of this title, and shall assign to each supervising inspector the limits of territory within which he shall perform his duties, and may, whenever he shall deem it necessary to do so, convene a court of inquiry, which shall investigate acts of local inspectors in granting licenses to officers and inspectors in granting licenses to officers and inspectors of their duties, which court of inquiry shall consist of three supervising inspectors of other districts than the one in which said local inspectors shall belong; and the three supervising inspectors designated, when so convened as a court of inquiry, shall have power to summon before them any witnesses, and compel their attendance by a process similar to that of the United States circuit or district court, and they may administer all necessary oaths to any witnesses hen summoned before them. And if the court shall be satisfied that any such local inspector or inspectors have been gully of neglect of duty, it shall report to the secretary of the treasury, who, if he deems the cause sufficient, shall remove any officer found delinquent.

Before starting for New York last evening Gen. Dumont received the following dis-patch from Inspectors Fairchilds and Matthews, of the latter port, regarding the ex-plosion of the steamer Riverdale: "Have no details as yet. Vessel still sub-merged. Investigation will be made as soon as practicable."

A JEWISH ELOPEMENT.

Intense Excitement in a Virginia Colony, Caused by the Disappearance of a Young Man with the Mother of His Sweetheart. In Middlesex county, Virginia, is a flourishing Jewish colony, composed mostly of one of the missing passengers of the ill-fated destitute Russian Jews, who are sent there as destitute Russian Jews, who are sent there as soon as they arrive in this country. The industry of the colony is shown by its wonderful progress and the increased wealth attained in the three years of its existence. Their habits are simple and their spare time is spent in devotion, a substantial synagogue being erected for that purpose. There have been three births in the colony and but one death.

Among the inhabitants of the village were Among the inhabitants of the village were two persons who caused the first excitement and sensation that the little colony has as yet experienced. Max Freiwald is an industrious and sensation that the fittie colony has as yet experienced. Max Freiwald is an industrious carriagesmith, who, up to a week age, enjoyed the respect and esteem of all of his neighbors. He was unmarried and very popular. Miss Rebecca Learteg is the daughter of Shomon Learteg, one of the leading citizens, and an industrious wheelwright. Miss Rebecca is about 16 years of age, and is very pretty. She and young Freiwald were sweethearts, and were engaged to be married. Max had asked her father for Rebecca's hand, which was refused on account of the youth of both parties, young Freiwald being but 20.

Last Thursday the two lovers met and planned an elopement, which was to take place last Saturday.

Mrs. Learteg, the mother of Miss Rebecca, is a comely matron, and the surprise and sensation caused may be imagined when, on Friday last, it was found that she and young Freiwald had disappeared together. There was no mistaking their intention, for each left a note stating that they loved each other left a note stating that they loved each other and had gone away to enjoy the fruits of their passion.

Freiwald and Mrs. Learteg came to this city on Saturday last and remained until Monday at a prominent hotel under an assumed name. They left here Monday night, and Tuesday morning three of the citizens of the colony came here to hunt for them. The latter stated that Mrs. Learteg had taken $300 of her husband's money with her. Miss Rebecca, the daughter of the runaway, was frantic when she learned of her lover's infidelity and her mother's shame, and she disappeared from home on Saturday following the elopement and was found in Baltimore with some friends. It is stated that a detective will be placed on the track of the runaways and, if found, Freiwald will be punished.

A Pleasant Entertainment.

A most enjoyable entertainment took place at Howard university last evening, in which at Howard university last evening, in which some of the best talent of the city participated. Songs, recitations, and addresses were made, and all the efforts were creditably performed and happily received. Mr. H. B. Lewis was the host of the occasion, and sustained the duties in a most agreeable manner. Among those present were Hon. E. H. Deas, E. A. Forrest of the Palmetto Press; A. F. Atkinson, of the pension bureau; C. C. Stewart, of the Bec: Miss Lena Champ, Miss Dalay Coleman, Miss Elley Beckwith, Miss Ida Brown, Miss Till Collins, Miss Ella Thomas, Emma Harrell, Misses Chapmau, Misses Lewis, Mr. George Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Milton Simpkins, Rev. Gonzaga College. Great improvements have been made in the class rooms at Gonzaga college, and the next scholastic term will open with the building scholastic term will open with the building thoroughly equipped for its part in the educational year. The improvement in the studies will be great proof of the progressive character of the college. Modern languages, now regarded as an essential part of business education, will be made a specialty, and the opportunities furnished here to acquire a practical command of those tongues is unsurpassed. The establishment of the military drill is also a matter to be greatly commended. a matter to be greatly commended.

Business of the Pension Office. During the last fiscal year 91,000 applica-tions for pensions were disposed of by the pension bureau. Commissioner Dudley says that the office handled every case brought before it. All applications were passed, rejected, or additional evidence required, so that no regarded with satisfaction by the commis-sioner, as there was a large amount of accumulated business at the beginning of the last fiscal year which has been disposed of in addition to the current office work.
